- 12:00-6:00 - Self-guided visit at the 9/11 Museum & Memorial in New York City – The 9/11 Memorial Museum which was dedicated on May 15, 2014, honors the memory of those killed in the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001 and the February 26, 1993 World Trade Center bombing. The museum serves as the country's principal institution concerned with exploring the implications of the events of 9/11, documenting the impact of those events and exploring 9/11's continuing significance. Visitors will see the remnants of structural columns that now delineate the footprints of the original Twin Towers including the 36--foot high Last Column along with artifacts of intimate to monumental scale—from a wide range of personal items donated by victims' families in memory of their loved ones to multiple objects salvaged from the wreckage of the World Trade Center in addition to FDNY fire trucks, an ambulance, and much more. A historical exhibition tells the story of what happened on 9/11, including the events at the World Trade Center, the Pentagon, and the story of Flight 93, and explores the background leading up to the events and examines their aftermath and continuing implications. Using artifacts, images, video, first-person testimony, and real-time audio recordings from 9/11, the exhibition provides insight into the human drama underway within the hijacked airplanes, the Twin Towers, and the Pentagon, as well as the courageous actions of first responders and civilians assisting one another. The memorial exhibition honors the victims of the attacks with portraits of the nearly 3,000 men, women, and children who were killed in the attacks conveying the scope and scale of loss.

The 9/11 Memorial, which was dedicated on September 11, 2011, is a tribute of remembrance and honor to the nearly 3,000 people killed in the terror attacks of September 11, 2001 and in the World Trade Center bombing in February 1993. The Memorial's twin reflecting pools, which sit within the footprints where the Twin Towers once stood, are each nearly an acre in size and feature the largest manmade waterfalls in the North America. The names of every person who died in the 2001 and 1993 attacks are inscribed into bronze panels edging the Memorial pools, a powerful reminder of the largest loss of life resulting from a foreign attack on American soil and the greatest single loss of rescue personnel in American history.

PLEASE NOTE: Security screening is mandatory for all visitors that enter the Memorial Museum, and will include screening of all bags, equipment, and belongings.
