FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT EXPERIENCE IN THE LAUREL HIGHLANDS

SEPTEMBER 27-28, 2020

Explore the landscape in Pennsylvania's Laurel Highlands that inspired one of America's greatest architects, Frank Lloyd Wright (June 8, 1867-April 9, 1959). Four of his homes can be found in the area, each capturing the beautiful natural landscapes surrounding its architecture. His philosophy of organic architecture focused on the harmony between the building and its natural surroundings. This inspired him to design the Usonian home, meaning affordable for the average American. Over the years, Frank Lloyd Wright designed over 1,000 structures in his lifetime, many of which still survive today. Get immersed into the Wright Experience on this magnificently structured tour designed just for you!

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27: We will travel to the Laurel Highlands in southwestern Pennsylvania this morning, to take a guided tour of Fallingwater, one of Wright's most widely acclaimed works. Located in Mill Run, PA, Fallingwater is a special house that was built over a waterfall, designed in 1935 and completed in 1937, for the Kaufmann family. It instantly became famous, and today it is a National Historic Landmark. On July 10, 2019, it was officially inscribed as one of 24 UNESCO World Heritage sites in the U.S. Fallingwater blends seamlessly with the landscape and waterfall, fully expressing Wright's concept of "organic architecture," the harmonious union of art and nature. Fallingwater seemingly suspends in mid-air above the shimmering cascade, creating the dramatically elegant home. Fallingwater is the only major Wright-designed house to open to the public with its original furnishings, artwork, and setting intact. While taking a guided tour of Fallingwater which features all the major rooms of the house, you will become aware of the rhythmic interplay between interior and exterior space by the numerous terraces, open-air walkways and unexpected views of the trees and water as you move through the house. A lunch voucher is included to be used at your own pace in the café onsite. This afternoon, we will visit Frank Lloyd Wright's mountain house, Kentuck Knob, located in Chalk Hill, PA, which was built in 1956 for I.N. and Bernadine Hagan. Kentuck Knob was designed on a hexagonal module and is a small, one story Usonian house, a signature design of Frank Lloyd Wright. The house exhibits the extraordinary warmth, serenity and functionality of a home Wright designed for everyday living. Enhanced by a breathtaking vista and its wooded landscape setting, Kentuck Knob is situated just below the crest of the mountain that it was named after and appears almost part of the mountain itself, standing 2,050 feet above sea level. Kentuck Knob represents a refinement of the many principles of organic architecture with construction materials of native sandstone and tidewater red cypress that blend naturally with the surroundings. As an open floor plan, cantilevered overhangs and great expanses of glass effortlessly integrate the inside with the outside. The guided tour is further enhanced by sculptures located in the garden, the woods, and the meadow, and the incredible panoramic view of the Youghiogheny River gorge and the surrounding towering trees. Afterwards, we will check into our luxurious accommodations for the evening at the:

1001 Lafayette Drive
Farmington, Pennsylvania 15437

Situated on 2,000 beautiful acres, Nemacolin is an all-season full service resort, owned by the Hardy Family, founders of the 84 Lumber Company. Nemacolin features an eclectic collection of restaurants, numerous onsite activities, wildlife habitat, Lady Luck Casino Nemacolin, spa, & more. Enjoy the evening on your own to relax and explore this magnificent property. A meal gift card will be issued to use towards meals while on property.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 28: Following breakfast on your own, we will depart mid-morning for Polymath Park located in Acme, PA. Nestled within 125 tranquil and scenic wooded acres, Polymath Park boasts two Frank Lloyd Wright homes, The Duncan House & Mäntylä House, along with the Balter House and Blum House, both designed by Wright's apprentice, Peter Berndtson, all located on this beautiful property. We will take a guided tour of The Duncan House, built in 1957 for Donald and Elizabeth Duncan, which was painstakingly and lovingly disassembled in 2004, moved from its original location in Lisle, Illinois, to its present site at Polymath Park. The home, which was reopened in 2007, presents another example of Wright's Usonian style. We will then tour the newest Wright house in the area, the Mäntylä House, meaning "of the pines," which was designed for the R.W. Lindholm family in 1952 by Frank Lloyd Wright. Originally built in Cloquet, Minnesota, the Lindholm House was carefully dismantled and shipped to Polymath Park in the spring of 2016, where new life has been given to this architectural gem. It was opened in May 2019 to the public after preservation efforts were completed. The L-shaped home will place you into a setting flowing with Mr. Wright's eclectic yet visionary design techniques. Discover the dramatic angles and prows that seem to tower over the landscape of Polymath Park. As we begin our travels home, we will stop for a late lunch at the historic Jean Bonnet Tavern, located along the Lincoln Highway, one of the first transcontinental roads in the United States. The tavern which dates back to the 1760's was placed on the prestigious National Register of Historic Places in 1979.
